It's Equally Important to Know What Our Cows Eat!

- Today, urea, DAP, and other agricultural inputs are used in farming. Fodder for animals is also grown using these same farming practices.

But Do We Really Know What Our Cows Eat?

- Fodder quality is essential for animal nutrition.
- Improper use of fertilizers and pesticides can affect soil, water, and the environment. It can also impact our lives and health.
- It is important to understand the relationship between animal feed, care, and milk quality.

From Fodder to Milk, Towards Natural Alternatives

- Our mission is to promote cow welfare, responsible animal husbandry, and awareness of organic products.
- Focus on the care and nutrition of cows.
- Proposed daily milk supply for families.
- Ensuring the future availability of products such as ghee, curd, grains, fruits, and vegetables, with plans to introduce FMCG products as well.
